FINAL INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE

April, 12th - 13th 2013

h. 8.30

Sala del Capitolo

Convento di San Domenico Maggiore
Vico San Domenico Maggiore, 18 - Naples

FRIDAY, APRIL 12TH
Chairperson: Paolo Valerio

SATURDAY, APRIL 13TH
Chairperson: Anna Lisa Amodeo

“Hermes: linking network to fight sexual and gender stigma”, awarded within the Daphne III Programme of the European Community, promoted by the Department of Theories and Methods of the Humans and Social Sciences of the University of Studies Federico II, in partnership with the University Complutense of Madrid, the University College Dublin School of Social Justice, and the associations “Le Kassandre”, “Arcigay Napoli Antinoo” and “AGEDO Palermo”, started in may 2011 to develop, implement and promote strategies of prevention and support to the victims of sexual and gender discrimination, in particular women and LGBTQI people.

The project has a biennial duration and it has been realized in the cities of Naples, Madrid and Dublin.

The different activities of the project involved institutional actors of the three cities to empower the network between agencies operating in the field of prevention and support towards women and LGBTQI people, and also to promote good practices in institutional, associative and scholastic contexts.

The final conference aims to present the work and experiences about the issues of gender and LGBTQI violence.

The logo has been realized during a laboratorial activity of the project, with primary and elementary school's children. It is the Hermes character represented by the little author, Andrea Napolitano.

TERMS OF PARTICIPATION:

Participation to the Conference is free. It is possible to apply for it till availability, e-mailing to: hermesconference@gmail.com
